Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind. — "My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know." - Mrs. DANIEL D. B. Davis, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

PRACTICAL TALK ON POULTRY

Much Advice Given by Theoretical Writers Not Worthy of Consideration on Average Farm.

The advice commonly given in poultry papers would require one to exercise nearly as much pains in the cleaning of a chicken house as in the cleaning of a kitchen. Such advice may be suitable for the city poultry fanciers, but some of it is out of place when given to the farmer. Poultry raising, the same as any other farm work, must pay for the labor put into it, and this will not be the case if attempt is made to follow all the suggestions of the theoretical poultry

The ease with which the premises may be kept reasonably free from litter and filth is a largely a matter of convenient arrangement. The handiest plan from this viewpoint is the colony system. In this the houses are moved to new locations as the ground becomes soiled. If the chicken house is a stationary structure, it should be built away from other buildings, scrap-piles, fence corners, etc., so that the ground can be frequently freshened by plowing and sowing in oats, rye or rape. The ground should be well sloped, so that the water draining from the surface may wash away much of the filth that on level ground would accumulate. Cleanliness indoors can be simplified by proper arrangement. First, the house must be dry. Poultry droppings, when dry, are not a source of danger if kept out of the feed. This may be accomplished by providing dropping boards under the roosts. The droppings in the poultry house should be removed often enough to prevent foul odors. It is best to clean it every day. Dry earth, gathered in the fall and stored in bins, is an excellent cleansing agent to use on the dropping board of the chicken house. Drinking vessels should be rinsed out when refilled and not allowed to accumulate a coat of slime. Many poultry writers give innumerable diseases and lists of remedies concerning which the average farm poultryman needs no knowledge whatever. There is very little definitely known on the subject of poultry diseases. Poultry allments are assignable to one of the three followng causes, or a combination of these First, hereditary or inborn weakness; second, unfavorable conditions of food. surroundings, etc.; third, germs or animal parasites.

A great many chickens die within the shell or during the growing process, there being no assignable reason save that of inherited weakness. For this class of troubles the only remedy is to breed from the better stock.

The prevention of the second class of ailments comes under the general head of "Feeding." A chicken, whether young or old, to thrive well, must have exercise, clean water, grit, a variety of grain food, green or succulent food, and casein or meat foods. The food requirements of a laying hen are very like those required by a growing chicken. Yarded or shut-in hens should be supplied with more lime than the food contains, however, to provide for the egg shell. Crushed oyster shell is much used for this purpose.

The third class of ailments belongs to the group of contagious diseases. These contagious diseases may be grouped into the general classes; First, those highly contagious; second, those contracted by fowls that are in a weakened condition. Chicken cholera is representative of the first class. This is spread by droppings and dead birds, and through feed and water. To stamp out the disease, kill and burn all sick chickens, and disinfect the premises frequently and thoroughly with a spray made of onehalf gallon carbolic acid, one-half galion of phenol and 20 gallons of water. Corrosive sublimate one part in 2,000 parts of water should be used in the drinking water.

Where the Money Is. We may all of us get the same price for eggs, but we don't all of us get the same price for the feed that goes to make the eggs. And that's where the money is-or isn't.

DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Bave Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now-Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff-that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die-then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight-now-any time-will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair-new hair-growing all over the scalp. BAD CASE OF DANDRUFF

Bissell, Ala.-"I had a very bad case of dandruff on my head. I was tormented by itching and my hair began to come out by the combfuls. I almost became frantic, fearful that I would lose all of my hair which was my pride. There were some pimples on my scalp and I scratched them until they made sores. My hair was dry and lifeless. "I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent to my druggist for three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my scalp with warm water strong with the Cuticura Soap and dried, afterwards applying the Cuticura Ointment, working it in the scalp slowly with my fingers. After using them for several days my hair began to stop coming out. The dandruff all disappeared and in less than four weeks a cure was accomplished permanently." (Signed) Miss Lucy May,

HAD YEARNING FOR ACTION

Incident in the Early Life of the Great Hercules Not Hitherto Recorded in Mythology.

The infant Hercules had tired of hygienic cuddling. Kicking the slats from his trundle bed, he tipped over the table with the modified milk and the distilled water and the government tested food and, making his way to the pantry, put himself outside of a pan of baked beans, a chunk of corned beef, a mince ple, and then drank a gallon of fresh buttermilk. When his frightened nurse found him he picked her up and tossed her to the top shelf of the china closet and playfully roared, "Good night, Nurse."

After which he toddled out on the front porch and looked up and down the highway. As he did so he toothlessly muttered:

"Why don't they bring on those unsanitary snakes that the fairy books say I throttled?"

Exacted a Promise.

Mrs. Henry Preston White was leaving her home for town the other afternoon, and as she started down the walk a pitiful wail reached her ears. Turning, she perceived her little five year-old son leaning far out of the second-story window.

"Mother! mother!" he cried. "Please promise me, won't you, mother? Promise me!"

Mrs. White ran back in much alarm into the house and up the stairs. "Darling, tell mother what is the matter," she pleaded.

"Oh, mother, promise me," he sobbed. "Anything, darling, anything."

"Promise me that you'll be good. mother, while you're in town," he said. and began to dry his tears.

Beware the Gray Eye.

Among the gray eyed there are few who retain any spiritual emotions. People with gray eyes are superficial, frivolous, given to embrace false idols, running down blind alleys, following false prophets, thoughtless, inconsiderate, wanting in sympathy, neurotic, unstable, not firm and deliberate, but rash and impetuous.
